

PANGAEA

Wondering...

- Which courses to register for? How to get around off campus?
- How to find (cheap) textbooks? Where to get your hair done?
- How to study for exams? How to get involved in community service?
- Where to eat (cheap)? How to find the organization that is right for you?
- Where to go for personal, academic, financial or career advice?
- How (and why) you should get to know your professors?
- What is CMEA? How to get the most out of your Georgetown experience?

Please join us for Pangaea, an orientation program sponsored by the Center for Multicultural Equity and Access (CMEA), on Monday, August 31, 2009 at 1:00 PM in Copley Formal Lounge.

During Pangaea, you will have the opportunity to learn about the wide variety of programs, services and resources offered by CMEA and its partners. You will learn about peer mentors (Georgetown students who can help you navigate campus academic and social life), advising by CMEA professional staff, community service opportunities, affordable printing and faxing services, CMEA's free book co-op, and more! You can also check us out online at <http://cmea.georgetown.edu>.
